

Take charge of your prostate health and stay in the game for life.

Join us for a Free Prostate Cancer screening during the 2010 HALL OF FAME WEEKEND.

Mike Haynes, Pro Football Hall of Fame Player for the New England Patriots and Los Angeles Raiders, knows how important prostate cancer screening can be.

"My journey with prostate cancer started with a screening event just like this one, sponsored by the NFL Player Care Foundation.

If I hadn't participated in that free event, I wouldn't have found this disease until it was much farther along. I am so grateful to have discovered this early enough to have successful treatment, I am now a spokesperson for the AUA Foundation, encouraging men across the country to get screened for this deadly disease.

I hope that you will sign up today – it's a simple test, doesn't take long, and it may just save your life. I know it saved mine!"

- Mike Haynes, HOF '97

Prostate cancer is treatable – so get screened!

Take the first step in defending your health by participating in this important screening event.

Sign up for your free prostate screening online or
